YOUACE PROJECT RESEARCH

You have been invited to be part of the YouACE project. Please read this information sheet to find out more about the research and why we are doing it.

About us

The University of Plymouth is co-delivering a pan-European project to see if social entrepreneurship and volunteering could help unemployed young people get on the career ladder. Our mission is to give young people tools and chances to improve their personal and social conditions as well as to equip youth organizations and workers to better answer and address the needs of young people. We aim to foster knowledge, skills, competences and attitudes by using the following methods:

1. Social entrepreneurship and sense of initiative in the social field
2. Entrepreneurship, (self-)employability and new business creation
3. Active citizenship and social inclusion.

What the research is about

This research is about finding out what young people who are not in employment or education need to help them progress.
